Description

A charming pair of portraits depicting a bourgeois couple from the early 19th century. The gentleman, dressed in a blue coat with a wide collar and a white cravat, is depicted from the waist up against a delicately sketched landscape background. His wife, wearing a bonnet adorned with ribbons and foliage, is dressed in a light-colored, high-waisted gown typical of Empire fashion. Antique blackened wood frames with pearl and gold fillet decoration; period framing. Pastels in generally good condition; some slight signs of wear on the frame (small chips, wear on the black border). Shipping within France: 20EUR. Shipping within Europe: 30EUR.
