Description

Large cat from the Bavent pottery village near Caen in Normandy, signed "C. LANGLOIS" on the square base. These sculptures were generally placed on the roofs of Anglo-Norman houses along the Opal Coast. This imposing piece has suffered some wear and tear over the years it spent decorating a roof; at some point, the cat must have become detached from its base. The crackle glaze is in fairly good condition. La poterie de Bavent existe toujours, était une fabrique de tuiles au XIX ème siècle.
