Description

An elegant French Louis XV-style desk, made in Paris around 1850, crafted from precious wood with beautiful herringbone marquetry and a warm, well-preserved patina. The upper central panel retains its original mirror and is decorated with Sèvres porcelain plaques, finely painted with romantic and floral scenes. The desk is richly adorned with finely chiseled gilded bronze mounts, including two sculpted figures signed ALIX, a renowned Parisian bronze artist active in the mid-19th century--a rare and highly desirable detail.
