Description

Oil on canvas signed by Vladimir Aleksandrovich Sokolov, depicting Lenin with several children in a wooded landscape. Set in an evocative autumnal setting, the scene features a balanced and narrative composition: Lenin is depicted in a calm, conversational pose, surrounded by young figures. The work is distinguished by soft, textured brushstrokes and a warm color palette dominated by earthy, ochre, and reddish tones, which evoke the seasonal atmosphere of the forest. The rendering of the figures is expressive and harmonious, with particular attention to the details of their clothing and postures, which suggest a moment of everyday life and closeness. A painting of great historical and iconographic interest, rooted in the 20th-century Soviet artistic tradition, ideal for collectors and
