

Painting, 18th-century River Landscape

Description

An 18th-century painting of a river landscape featuring travelers and ruins in the classicist style. A group of shepherds with livestock rests on a rocky path in the lower left, while a monumental, dense grove of trees dominates the scene atop a rocky outcrop; in the background, an ancient arched stone bridge and a tower flank a body of water. Warm tones and golden light create the typical atmosphere of the Italian countryside, alternating with pinkish hues on the horizon and a small flock of birds in dynamic flight. A balanced composition that celebrates the romantic fusion of nature and ancient ruins. Already restored and retouched, so in excellent condition
