Description

An antique Louis XIV kneeler made of solid walnut and walnut burl, dating from the early 18th century. The piece follows strict classical architectural proportions, divided vertically into three orders: the upper section with a lower band and an integrated drawer. The central section features a triptych arrangement, with a rectangular door in the center mounted on hinges and embellished with a bronze keyhole. The lower base is projecting and lowered, specifically designed for kneeling, while the top of the base panel opens via hinges to reveal an internal well-shaped storage compartment resting on the base plinth. Condition: Needs restoration. Provenance: Italy, 18th century. Dimensions: 65x55 H85 cm. Documentation: Certificate of
