Description

A small mortar and its pestle...Made of cast bronze...With a patina from age...Shows signs of use...With oxidation on the inside...The bottom has become misshapen from being pounded so much...The pestle has a more pronounced patina on one side...Is that its own...?I think so...!I got them together....!Otherwise, the body of the mortar is very simple...Thick ridges...And lines that accentuate the object...The model is quite small...With a lovely resonance when struck...!Even with the warping on the bottom, it holds together...From the early 18th century...Maybe even a little older...!Weight... 960 gr
