

Antique Renaissance Oak Sideboard, Late 16th-early 17th Century

2 200 EUR

Period : 16th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Solid wood

Description

Two-piece Renaissance sideboard in solid oak - Late 16th / Early 17th century. A significant two-section Renaissance sideboard in solid oak, dating from the late 16th-early 17th century, featuring remarkable carving and excellent condition. The front is richly adorned with vine tendrils, grape clusters, foliage, mascarons, and a superb carved angel's head at the center of the drawers. The central post is decorated with a large mascarón surrounded by finely executed plant motifs. The side panels are also carved, a sign of a piece of great prestige. The piece opens with four doors and two lower drawers, each fitted with wrought-iron handles. It rests on a sturdy, molded base and is crowned by an imposing carved cornice. The piece as a whole attests to the craftsmanship of French

Dealer

Galerie Christophe Elisabeth

Galerie Christophe Elisabeth

Mobile : 06 99 48 80 76

1 domaine de Montrabech

Lézignan-Corbières 11200

Renaissance workshops. With its harmonious proportions and rich ornamentation, this sideboard is a first-rate collector's item, ideal for a home with character, a historic residence, or a significant collection of antique furniture. Dimensions: Height: 188 cm Width: 144 cm Depth: 56 cm Period: late 16th - early 17th century.