Description

Late 19th-century Tuscan sofa in solid walnut, an elegant example of 19th-century cabinetmaking. The frame features simple, harmonious lines, enhanced by refined carvings along the legs, armrests, and lower rail. The walnut wood, with its beautiful warm patina, highlights the balance of the proportions and the quality of the craftsmanship. The seat and backrest are upholstered in fabric featuring classic motifs, consistent with the style of the period. Turned legs and contoured armrests lend the piece a sense of grace and elegance. A piece of great charm, ideal for classic interiors, studies, living rooms, or reception areas, perfect both as a period piece and as a distinctive decorative element.
