Description

Charming Painted Italian Folding Table, Early 20th Century, circa 1920 A lovely Tuscan folding table, painted and dating from the early 20th century, retaining its original decoration. The hand-painted tabletop is adorned with foliage scrolls and floral motifs in warm shades of green, pink, and yellow, creating a soft and romantic palette rich in character. The scalloped side flaps fold down to form a compact and elegant console table, then open to reveal a generous oval tabletop, ideal for meals or displaying objects. The painted surface features a beautiful network of crackle glaze and an authentic patina of wear throughout. A drawer along each side, each fitted with a simple wooden knob, provides practical storage space, while the understated and functional trestle-style base ensures excellent
