Description

Artist 20th century20th centuryEuropean School'Still Life with a Blue Teapot'Signature: not signedMedium: oil on canvasDimensions: image size 80 x 70 cm; frame size 82 x 72 cmThis expressive still life beautifully reflects the spirit of twentieth-century European painting, where colour, form, and atmosphere take precedence over strict realism. The composition features an elegant arrangement of everyday objects, including green glass bottles, ceramic vessels, a vibrant blue teapot, fruit, all carefully composed on a softly illuminated table.The artist employs a harmonious palette of cool blues, turquoise, lavender, and muted earth tones, creating a serene and luminous atmosphere. Loose, confident brushstrokes and subtle tonal transitions lend the painting a lively, painterly quality, while the interplay of glass, ceramic, fabric and fruit reveals a sensitive appreciation for texture and light. The cobalt-blue teapot provides a striking focal point, drawing the eye through the composition and adding a vibrant counterpoint to the softer surrounding hues. The carefully balanced arrangement of vertical forms, draped textiles, and organic shapes creates a rhythmic composition that feels both structured and spontaneous. Influenced by the modern European still-life tradition, the painting demonstrates an expressive approach to colour and composition while retaining the timeless appeal of familiar domestic objects. Its fresh palette, energetic execution, and decorative elegance make it a versatile work that complements both traditional and contemporary interiors. Rich in atmosphere and painterly vitality, Still Life with a Blue Teapot is a compelling example of twentieth-century European art, celebrating the quiet beauty of everyday life through expressive colour, confident brushwork, and harmonious composition.
