Description

A 19th-century green opaline goblet on a pedestal, made in France. It stands out for its elegant silhouette with a fluted rim and its rich enameled decoration accented with gold, featuring flowers, foliage, and Oriental-inspired motifs. The delicacy of its polychrome decoration, combined with the luminosity of the opaline glass, attests to the refinement of French craftsmanship of that era. Its fluted pedestal provides a beautiful balance to the piece as a whole and highlights the finesse of its form. Both a decorative object and a collector's item, this bowl will add a touch of elegance to a classic interior or to the display case of an antique glassware enthusiast. Period: 19th century Origin: France Material: Green opaline, glazed and accented with gold Dimensions: Height: 14 cm -
