Description

A one-of-a-kind piece. A custom order from the 1980s for a wealthy client. This insulated pitcher was covered in stingray leather. The work was carried out by a master craftsman, as the rounded curves and shapes, combined with the stiffness of the stingray leather, made it a true challenge to tackle. The piece was crafted in shades of fuchsia pink with a mother-of-pearl trim down the center. The result is this magnificent pitcher, which is in perfect condition and, moreover, fully functional.
