Description

Ornamental vase made of Paris porcelain, France, Empire period Restored--early 19th century, circa 1820. Unsigned; it may have been produced by the Schoelcher Manufactory. Beautiful decoration featuring a leaping lion and a basket of fruit in matte and glossy gold on a purple background, with side handles in gilded bisque featuring masks of a radiant Jupiter. Superb gilding in matte and glossy gold. Beautiful, large-format vase; the depth of the colors makes it highly decorative. Ideal for adorning a pedestal table or a chest of drawers, complementing a pair of candlesticks, in an Empire-style decor. In perfect condition, gilding is extremely fresh with no wear, no damage, and no broken parts that have been reattached. Nearly 200 years old and virtually in mint condition. Height: 30 cm
