Description

"North Sea" is an Impressionist painting by Piet Volckaert depicting a lively day at the seaside. Families are strolling, relaxing on the sand, and enjoying the beach, while the waves add movement to the scene. The vivid splashes of color and the light give the painting a lively, summery atmosphere. Piet Volckaert (1902-1973) was a Belgian painter known for his landscapes, seascapes, and beach scenes. His work is characterized by a loose brushstroke and a particular attention to light and atmosphere. Inspired by Impressionism, he depicted numerous landscapes of the Belgian coast with luminous colors and great spontaneity. Today, his works are appreciated by lovers of modern Belgian painting. Provenance: private collection in Brussels. Painting dimensions: 43x53 cm. Panel.
