Description

"Birds and Snake" is a work by Louis Kanyemba depicting two vibrantly colored birds facing a snake hidden in lush vegetation. The stylized forms, repetitive patterns, and contrasting colors give the composition a dynamic rhythm and a strong decorative presence. This scene evokes the richness of African wildlife and the balance between nature and the wild. Louis Kanyemba (1937) is a Congolese painter known for his colorful world and instantly recognizable style. Inspired by nature, animals, and the traditions of his country, he has developed an artistic language that blends realism and stylization. His works, appreciated for their energy and visual richness, have been exhibited in several countries and are included in numerous private collections. Provenance: private collection,
