Description

This abstract composition by Boeri plays with geometric shapes, lines, and textures. Shades of ochre, brown, red, and yellow create a balanced composition, where textures add depth and dimension. The piece evokes a mineral landscape or a natural surface, leaving plenty of room for the viewer's interpretation. The painting reflects an abstract approach rooted in texture and color. The various layers of paint and textural effects lend character to the work, while the warm color palette reinforces its contemporary and decorative quality.
