Description

"Elegant Women at the Beach" is a watercolor by Paul Rossert depicting two women enjoying a day by the sea. One is sitting in a chair, a book in her hand, while the other gazes out at the horizon under a parasol. The transparency of the watercolor, the luminous tones, and the delicate shades of blue and beige create a peaceful and elegant atmosphere, evoking the seaside resorts of the Belle Époque. Paul Rossert (1851-1931) was a Belgian painter and watercolorist who specialized in landscapes, seascapes, and beach scenes. He distinguished himself through his mastery of watercolor and his ability to capture the effects of light and maritime atmospheres. His works, marked by finesse and spontaneity, reflect his interest in the daily life and leisure activities of his time. Provenance: private collection,
