Description

18th-century Tuscan fireplace mantelpiece, crafted from finely carved wood and decorated with elegant polychrome marbling and gold leaf accents. The design features a pronounced entablature with molded cornices and side posts shaped with Baroque-style volutes, typical of 18th-century Tuscan craftsmanship. The skillful imitation of marble and the chromatic contrast with the gilding lend the piece great decorative refinement and a striking visual impact. A work of high-quality craftsmanship, ideal as an architectural and ornamental element for classical interiors, historic residences, or collections of antique furniture.
