Description

This polychrome biscuit from the very early 20th century--the Art Nouveau period, circa 1910--features a charming subject: a little girl pushing her kitten away from her face as it clings to one of her blond curls. Produced by A.W.F. Kister, Scheibe-Alsbach, Thuringia, circa 1910; stamped on the back, no. 11874 or 11374...In very good condition; note a small chip at the lower corner of the pink fabric, barely visible, and some wear on the brown polychrome of the armchair, along with minute firing cracks visible only on the back. Height 24 cm; width 11.5 cm; depth 10 cm; weight = 650 grams. Extremely careful shipping at additional cost, depending on destination.
