Description

Directoire-style mahogany corner cabinet with flaps - Late 18th century
An elegant mahogany Directoire corner cabinet from the late 18th century. It opens with a belt drawer; two flaps reveal an interior featuring a shelf and a drawer in the lower section. The fluted legs, clean lines, and superb flamed mahogany veneer are characteristic of the Directoire style. Its triangular top allows it to fit perfectly in a corner, while providing an elegant and functional storage piece. This corner cabinet features high-quality cabinetry, an antique patina, and is in excellent condition. Dimensions: Height: 81 cm Width: 82.5 cm Depth: 40 cm Style: Directoire. Period: late 18th century. Wood: solid mahogany and mahogany veneer.
