Description

Set of eight Louis XIII-style chairs in walnut - Early 20th century An elegant set of eight dining chairs in solid walnut, in the Louis XIII style, dating from the early 20th century. These chairs rest on an elegant sheep's-bone base, connected by scalloped crossbars, characteristic of this style. The straight backs, with their simple and balanced lines, highlight the beautiful patina of the walnut. The comfortable and generously padded seats are upholstered in high-quality fabric, accented by a seed-patterned finish. The set is in excellent condition, with a perfectly sound and stable structure. This set of eight chairs will appeal to lovers of traditional French furniture for the quality of its craftsmanship, its timeless elegance, and its comfort. It will complement an antique table as well as a classic
