Description

Set of six chairs and two English armchairs in the Restoration style, made of inlaid mahogany - 19th century. An elegant set consisting of six chairs and two English armchairs, made of mahogany in the Restoration style, dating from the 19th century. The openwork backs with vertical posts, the curved armrests of the armchairs, and the fine inlay bands that highlight the contours are evidence of high-quality English cabinetmaking. The simple, balanced lines are characteristic of English furniture from the first half of the 19th century. The seats are upholstered in brown leather embossed with a floral pattern and secured with tacks. They feature a beautiful patina from use that enhances the authentic character of this set. This set, consisting of six chairs and two armchairs, is uniform, sturdy, and in very good
