Description

Pair of antique acid-etched crystal perfume bottles by Saint-Louis, circa 1910. This Empire-style model, featuring the "Nelly" motif, appears in the 1908 Saint-Louis catalogs. Decorated with neoclassical palmettes, it features a textured and finely crafted surface, enhanced with gilding. It is topped with a faceted stopper. The base of the stopper is engraved with a number, which matches the one also found on the bottom of the bottle, attesting to its authenticity.
