Description

Louis-Philippe mirror in gilded wood - Mid-19th century
An elegant Louis-Philippe period mirror, crafted around the mid-19th century, displaying all the characteristics that give this style its charm: sober lines, harmonious proportions, and luminous gilding that transcends the ages without losing any of its elegance. Its molded wooden frame retains its original gilding, with a warm patina, and is distinguished by its delicately rounded corners, typical of the Louis-Philippe style. A delicate bead frieze runs along the inner edge of the frame, adding a touch of understated refinement without detracting from the purity of the design. This exquisitely delicate ornamentation elegantly highlights the mirror and attests to the quality of craftsmanship in French workshops of that period. The Louis-Philippe style, highly prized for its balance between classicism and modernity, favors clean lines that allow these mirrors to blend seamlessly into both traditional interiors and contemporary decor. Their simplicity makes them particularly sought-after today by interior designers and connoisseurs of authenticity. This mirror has retained all its character and authenticity, with its antique frame and original gilding, offering that soft, vibrant patina that only time can create. Its generous size of 80 × 60 cm makes it an ideal piece for an entryway, living room, bedroom, or above a fireplace or dresser. Both understated and refined, this mirror is a timeless classic of 19th-century French interior design. It elegantly reflects light and instantly adds depth and warmth to any interior. Dimensions: 80 × 60 cm.
