

Inlaid Sloping-top Desk - Louis XV Period

750 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : En l'etat

Material : Marquetry

Width : 91

Height : 100

Depth : 49

Description

Sloping-top writing desk with marquetry - Louis XV period
An elegant Louis XV-era sloping desk featuring geometric marquetry in a curled pattern of precious woods. Its curved front, resting on four arched legs topped with refined bronze feet, perfectly exemplifies the Rococo style of the 18th century. The drop-down top, adorned with superb diamond-patterned marquetry and a central medallion featuring floral decoration, opens to reveal a meticulously crafted interior. It consists of four small drawers, storage compartments, and a veneered writing shelf, offering a workspace that is as practical as it is elegant. The front features five drawers: two small upper drawers, a narrow central drawer, and two large lower drawers. The lock plates and finely chiseled bronze handles highlight the quality of the

Dealer

Tino antiquites

Mobilier

Mobile : 0763127955

11 rue de bel air à l'huis laurent

Dun les Places 58230

cabinetmaking. The piece is crafted from a remarkable veneer of rosewood, violetwood, and other precious woods, forming a geometric marquetry of great finesse. The sides are also inlaid, and the original bronze fittings add an extra touch of refinement. Period: Louis XV, 18th century. Materials: precious woods (rosewood, violetwood, and other species), oak, chiseled bronze. Dimensions: Height: 100 cm Width: 91 cm Depth: 49 cm Condition: needs restoration (missing marquetry). Beautiful patina; interior is clean and functional. Some slight signs of wear and maintenance restorations consistent with its age. An elegant and decorative sloping desk, ideal for a classic or contemporary interior, showcasing the craftsmanship of 18th-century French master cabinetmakers.