Description

Art Deco Vase with Monkeys, Attributed to Keralouve, La LouvièreAn elegant decorative ceramic vase in the Art Deco style, attributed to the Keralouve factory in La Louvière, Belgium, and dating from the 20th century.This piece features a remarkable design of stylized monkeys, rendered in a warm palette of brown, ochre, and orange against a light background of crackled glazed ceramic. The composition depicts several monkeys moving among trees reminiscent of palm trees, accompanied by circular medallions adorned with monkey heads, autumn foliage, and a geometric frieze at the bottom.Its generous ovoid shape gives it a strong decorative presence, while the glossy colors of the glaze and the fine surface crackle add depth, texture, and a vintage character to the piece.The base bears the model
