Description

This Napoleon III-era fireplace (1852-1871) was crafted from a highly valued Griotte (Cherry) marble and Noir de Mazy marble. The Napoleon III style is characterized by its eclecticism. This imposing mantelpiece once stood in an important 'Maison Maître' in Brussels. One photo shows the fireplace during the restoration, when it was in our 'Intensive Care'. This fireplace features various ornamentation, the massive pilaster shaped jambs are crowned with ionic-capitels and little gilded bronzes. The Griotte marble is vividly deep red with a taste of chocolat and is famous for prestige and greater luxury. Can be delivered with an original frontdoor-frame and floortiles. In perfect condition. Worldwide shipping. Delivery within Europe can be done by Antique Fireplaces
