Description

A true icon of watchmaking since its creation in 1931, the Reverso remains one of Jaeger-LeCoultre's most iconic creations. Originally designed to protect the watch crystals of polo players, its ingenious reversible case has, over the decades, become one of the most recognizable hallmarks of Swiss haute horlogerie. This model, dating from 2016, is crafted in steel and powered by a Jaeger-LeCoultre in-house hand-wound caliber, an expression of the Maison's watchmaking expertise and faithful to the tradition that has forged its reputation among connoisseurs of fine watchmaking. Its proportions hold a particularly interesting place in the evolution of the women's collection. More generous in size than the first Reverso Lady models, yet more understated than the Medium models that followed, they offer an elegant presence on the wrist while retaining the finesse and balance that characterize this iconic line. A true manifesto of Art Deco aesthetics, the Reverso captivates with the purity of its rectangular architecture, its characteristic horizontal grooves, and its silver guilloché dial with a sunburst pattern. These various elements interact harmoniously, creating subtle plays of light that highlight the precision of its design. The large applied Arabic numerals add depth and character, while the blued hands ensure a display that is as elegant as it is perfectly legible. The two rows of diamonds framing the dial highlight the case's linear architecture. Their presence remains deliberately understated, extending the play of light on the guilloché dial while emphasizing the Reverso's Art Deco lines without ever compromising its understated elegance or timeless style. The famous reversible case remains one of Jaeger-LeCoultre's defining hallmarks. Its reverse side, intentionally left blank, offers the ideal space for a personalized engraving, while retaining all the functionality that has made this model famous for nearly a century. Presented on its black alligator leather strap, this Reverso is equipped with its original Jaeger-LeCoultre-signed folding clasp, ensuring optimal comfort while protecting the strap from repeated handling. It comes with its original box and papers. Combining the timeless elegance of the Reverso, the sophistication of its in-house caliber, particularly harmonious proportions, a complete set with its original accessories, and the manufacturing excellence characteristic of Jaeger-LeCoultre, this watch truly embodies the legacy of a model that has become an absolute benchmark in 20th-century watchmaking. The watch is signed on its dials, case back, movement, and folding clasp, and, of course, bears its individual serial number. Presented in perfect condition and fully serviced, we guarantee its proper functioning for one year (except in cases of impact or immersion). Model: Reverso
