Description

A superb bronze sculpture with a green patina depicting a young nude dancer in a pose of remarkable balance and great elegance. With her arms outstretched, holding two spheres, she perfectly embodies the Art Deco aesthetic of movement. The work rests on a green marble base, highlighting the finesse of the chiseling and the quality of the cast bronze. It is signed by Secondo, an Italian-born sculptor active in the 1920s and 1930s, known for his animal sculptures and Art Deco creations with clean lines. In very good condition, with the original patina well preserved. A high-quality decorative sculpture, ideal for an Art Deco interior or a collection of 20th-century bronzes.
