Description

Art Deco Bedroom Set - Double bed, wardrobe, and pair of nightstands from the 1920s, attributed to the Ducrot workshop in Palermo. Crafted from solid walnut and select walnut burl, featuring butter-like grain patterns of rare intensity that create a luxurious, marbled effect. The sinuous, undulating lines--typical of the transitional period between Art Nouveau and mature Art Deco--combine with a geometric and imposing design. The monumental wardrobe features a finely carved central high relief depicting a triumph of playful, dancing cherubs--an iconic motif of Ducrot's work--which adds a festive and mythological touch. The double bed is characterized by stepped headboard and footboard with cylindrical friezes and harmonious curves, while the pair of nightstands echoes the same decorative and structural elements to create a cohesive and harmonious ensemble. Metal handles (likely original Bakelite or steel), contoured bases, and period-style polished finishes. A high-quality piece of Sicilian craftsmanship, ideal for collectors of 20th-century Italian design. Excellent condition, with original patina and minimal signs of aging. The dimensions listed below refer to the bed.
