Description

A lamp featuring tubular elements made of molded glass--transparent and slightly milky--with a chrome-plated metal frame. Produced between 1960 and 1970, designed by Aldo Nason for Mazzega, it consists of two U-shaped molded glass tubes that hold four E7 bulbs. The pendant is suspended by a chain and a chrome-plated metal frame. The glass elements are in good condition, with no defects; the frame shows signs of oxidation.
