Description

A small, low sideboard in solid molded oak, in the Louis XV style, dating from the second half of the 18th century. It opens with two doors featuring molded panels and rests on carved legs joined by an elegant scrolled crossbar. This regional piece captivates with its authenticity: laced tenons, a wrought-iron latch, period joinery, and a back made of wide planks all attest to its original craftsmanship. Its beautiful, warm patina highlights the oak's grain. The interior offers practical storage space and an internal shelf, making it ideal for an entryway, dining room, or kitchen. Stable and sound, it shows the normal signs of wear expected in a piece of furniture over two centuries old, which only adds to its charm. A piece of character--understated and authentic--perfect for a traditional interior or an
