A beautiful scene depicting a group of villagers going about their business along a riverbank. In the background, a village nestled in the shade of the trees. A very beautiful atmosphere. It is the work of Guilherme d'Olivera Marques, a painter and sculptor born in Brazil in 1887 and who died in Leopoldville, Belgian Congo, in 1960. He was Portuguese. He is considered one of the founding fathers of African painting. Painting on a plywood panel measuring 46 cm x 36 cm. In a lovely modern light oak frame, 61 cm x 52 cm. The entire piece is in perfect condition.
