Description

A small Louis XVI-style mahogany chest of drawers with six front-opening drawers, topped with veined white Carrara marble and framed by an openwork cornice. Dating from the early 20th century, it is worth noting that it retains all of its keys, which are in working order, and that both the drawer bottoms and the cabinet frame are made of solid wood--a clear sign of high-quality cabinetmaking, as this was uncommon at the time. The usable height inside the drawers is 11 cm. We can arrange shipping within mainland France for EUR150.
