Description

A profusion of multicolored flags brings this festive harbor to life, where boats seem to converge in a ceaseless flow. Set against the imposing silhouettes of the ships and the bustle of the docks, the composition vividly captures the atmosphere of a maritime celebration, while allowing the light to reflect off the calm waters of the Scheldt. In the work of Julien Creytens (1897-1972), the harbor landscape becomes the setting for a scene that is both folksy and monumental. A free and energetic brushstroke, enhanced by luminous highlights, brings to life the boats and flags that give rhythm to the composition. True to his interest in urban views and Flemish landscapes, the painter succeeds in combining descriptive precision with an overall impression, making this work a vibrant tribute to
