Description

Art medal in patinated bronze, signed by Henri Dropsy, depicting Eve and the serpent. Edge marked "BRONZE" with a triangular hallmark. The reverse features a garland with a butterfly and the artist's monogram below the butterfly. An iconic subject for the artist, in the late Art Nouveau/Art Deco style. Some wear on the patina on the reverse and on the tip of Eve's nose... Henri Dropsy, French artist (January 21, 1885-November 2, 1969), medalist, goldsmith, engraver, and sculptor. Professor of medal engraving at the École des Beaux-Arts and member of the Académie des Beaux-Arts, engraving section, from 1942 onward.
