Beautiful 18th-century Heraldic Wine Glass, Northern Europe.

375 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Glass

Diameter : 6cm

Height : 15cm

Description

Here is a wine glass made by glassblowing, with a clean pontil mark, a flared conical base, bubbles in glass, and a hollow stem with a wide ring; there is a blown bubble on bottom of glass, rim of which is engraved and then gilded of a heraldic emblem featuring two armed lions. Height: 15 cm, diameter at lip: 6 cm. Weight: 100 g; in very good condition, with some wear to gilding. The original glasswork is possibly from Saxony, 18th century. The gilded engraving may have been made in Holland, either as a commemorative piece or for a special occasion. This fact is noted in several Christie's auctions.
