Description

This oil on canvas is in good overall condition. It has not been cleaned or restored; there are a few small marks on the sky (see photos). The overall appearance remains fresh. The frame is whitewashed. Dedication on the back dated April 26, 1955. Marcel Basler (1917-1990) was a French painter. Until the late 1960s, Marcel Basler's work was primarily figurative and was expressed through gouaches, watercolors, and oil paintings. Starting in the 1970s, turning away from the style that had been his own until then and had opened many doors for him, he turned exclusively to abstract art, and this final period of his life was marked by tormented works. Please provide detailed descriptions of the photos regarding the condition. The photos are an integral part of the description. Dimensions:-
