Description

A finely decorated, four-panel Chinese lacquered screen from the late 19th century, made of wood and black lacquer. The four panels are embellished with a refined scene of court life set in an elegant Oriental garden, featuring figures, traditional architecture, a bridge, trees, and floral motifs, all rendered with great attention to detail. The lower portion of each panel is decorated with inlays depicting flowers and birds, also executed in mother-of-pearl, while the frames feature delicate ornamental motifs that enhance the overall elegance of the piece. Origin: China Period: late 1800s Dimensions: (40x4) height 183 cm SKU: 17516-v
