Description

An important oil painting on canvas depicting The Education of the Virgin, by the Neapolitan painter Pietro Bardellino (1728-1806), one of the most refined artists of 18th-century Neapolitan painting. The composition depicts Saint Anne teaching the young Mary to read, a subject of profound devotional significance, particularly cherished in 18th-century religious painting. The work stands out for its refined execution, compositional balance, and the delicate luminosity of its color palette--characteristics typical of Bardellino's oeuvre. The painting is in perfect condition and is accompanied by its period frame, an element that enhances its historical and collectible value. Technique: oil on canvas. Artist: Pietro Bardellino (1728-1806). Period: 18th century. Dimensions: 76
