

Victorian Pendant Brooch In 12-carat Gold And Silver With Rose-cut Diamonds Sp80

1 900 EUR

Period : 20th century

Condition : Parfait état

Material : Gold

Description

An elegant Victorian-era pendant brooch, crafted in the 19th-century goldsmithing tradition using a refined combination of 12-karat yellow gold and 925 sterling silver. The piece features an elaborate openwork structure, richly decorated with sinuous plant motifs, ornamental volutes, and floral elements. The centerpiece of the composition is a striking flower embellished with rose-cut diamonds arranged around a larger central stone. Additional rose-cut diamonds are distributed throughout the entire setting, creating delicate points of light and highlighting the intricate openwork design. The dark patina of the silver creates a refined contrast with the stones, enhancing their soft and evocative brilliance, typical of antique diamonds. The articulated lower section, designed as a pendant element, lends

Dealer

Campanile Jewelry

Antique and vintage jewelry

Mobile : +39 351 983 6137

34 via scialoia

Napoli 80133

movement and verticality to the piece, while the upper decorative motif completes the composition with great balance. A brooch of great historical charm, ideal for collectors or for those who wish to wear an authentic Victorian jewel with a striking presence. Details: Period: Victorian, 19th century Metals: 12-karat yellow gold and 925 silver Total weight: 20.00 grams Diamonds: Rose cut Estimated total diamond weight: approximately 1.50 carats Dimensions: approximately 4.00 × 6.00 cm Condition: Well-preserved, with slight signs of aging and a natural patina consistent with its age and use The piece will be delivered in an elegant jewelry box, accompanied by our certificate of authenticity and warranty. Tracked and insured shipping.