Description

Set of four 'Medusa' chairs designed by Alberto Bazzani for Tetrarch in the 1970s. These chairs combine a chrome metal frame with leather seats and backs, creating an elegant contrast between the shiny metal and the leather. The curvilinear design of the metal legs gives a sense of lightness and dynamism, while the leather provides comfort and durability. In good condition, these chairs are ideal for those who appreciate avant-garde design from the last century and seek a piece of furniture that combines aesthetics and functionality. Product Condition: Product in good condition, shows small signs of wear. We try to present the actual condition as fully as possible with photos. If certain details are not clear from the photos, the description applies.
