Description

This 1940s buffet, designed to double as a bar, features a functional and refined design. The wooden frame is expertly covered in burl-effect furniture paper, lending it an elegant and distinctive look. The side doors and revolving central compartment offer practicality and internal organization, complete with glass and bottle holders for a perfect home bar. The frame and legs are made of ebony-stained wood, adding a touch of sophisticated contrast, while the brass handles complete the aesthetic with refined details. The back-treated glass top ensures durability and easy maintenance. Fully restored, it is in perfect condition, ready to enhance a classic or modern space with its charm.
