Description

This magnificent rug, which has been thoroughly cleaned by our experts at the Galerie Lissier artisan workshop, is now ready to adorn your home. Ghoum silk-on-silk carpet - Shah era, circa 1970. Origin: Ghoum (Qom), Persia. Period: Circa 1970 - Shah era. Material: Silk on silk (velvet pile and silk warp and weft). Dimensions: 215 × 140 cm. This sumptuous Ghoum rug, woven entirely in silk on silk, exemplifies the refinement of Persian art during the Shah era. Dated to around 1970, it captivates with the exceptional finesse of its knotting and the richness of its floral details. Its design centers on an ivory-and-gold central medallion, set against a deep midnight blue field, richly adorned with arabesques, floral scrolls, and delicate birds--symbols of harmony and prosperity in Persian art. shades of honey, ivory, and navy blue perfectly frames the composition and underscores the overall balance. The quality of the silk gives the rug a shimmering luster that shifts with the light and the nap's orientation, offering subtle reflections that highlight every detail of the design. A true collector's item, this Ghoum rug is as much a work of art as it is a prestigious decorative piece. It will naturally find its place in a classic or contemporary interior, where its timeless elegance will bring warmth, refinement, and character.
