Description

This 1901 poster by Ferdinand Mifliez, known as Misti, depicts women enjoying themselves at a booth at the Neuilly fair, held from June 15 to July 7, 1907. The poster is in good overall condition. Ferdinand Edouard Ernest Mifliez, known as Misti (1865-1922), was a French painter, poster artist, lithographer, and illustrator. Misti is best known today for his numerous posters. His work appears in two issues of the magazine launched by Jules Chéret, Les Maîtres de l'affiche: Cycles Gladiator (1895) and La Critique (1896). Chéret also had some of Misti's early lithographic works printed (by Chaix et associés) before Misti opened his own studio in 1894. Dimensions: Height: 160 cm Width: 114 cmMX303
