Pair of large Renaissance columns made of fluted and molded walnut. Beautiful elements of interior decor, these two columns likely came from a significant piece of furniture--perhaps a large four-poster bed or a paneled sideboard....Very fine craftsmanship; the columns are slightly tapered with complex and refined molding. In good condition, still straight and complete; a few old wormholes that have been treated; waxed finish. Displayed as shown, their generous dimensions make them beautiful decorative elements and also allow them to be easily incorporated into a period interior design project....French work from the 17th/18th century. Note: No shipping. Pickup on site by appointment or transportation arranged at the buyer's discretion and expense.
