Description

A delightful globe mounted on a walnut and red-veined marble column base, from the 1960s, in the 18th-century style of a "Cabinet d'Amateur." This lovely piece is a scaled-down reproduction of the famous globe by Mr. Robert, displayed at the Quai de l'Horloge in Paris in 1745. Carefully crafted in vibrant colors, this lovely library globe is decorative and follows in the tradition of beautiful reproductions of our planet on an opulent and decorative base, where it will easily find its place in a decor inspired by exploration and adventure... In very good condition
