modeled natural rock base. With her left hand, she gracefully lifts a black mask (lutta/moretta), a typical attribute of 18th-century theater and carnival. She wears a refined gown that leaves one shoulder bare and features a full, flowing skirt painted with delicate bouquets of polychrome flowers, executed--like the details of her face--with a brush and the utmost precision typical of miniature painting. Particularly noteworthy is the detail of the "Roman-style" sandals with pink lacing intertwined around the ankles, as well as the sculptural care with which the facial features and styled hair are rendered. This type of figurine belongs to the golden age of the Meissen porcelain manufactory in Saxony. The subject is based on the famous models created in the mid-18th century by the renowned master modeler Johann Joachim Kändler together with Peter Reinicke, who revolutionized European porcelain sculpture by introducing dynamic figures, full of verve, liveliness, and Rococo style.- All our works are accompanied by a detailed certificate of authenticity.- Professional packaging and insured shipping to ensure maximum safety during transport.- For further information, please do not hesitate to contact us at +39 329 319 4887 - info@dequart.com- Option for VIDEO CALLS and in-person viewings by appointment in MILAN and OMEGNA (Vb).- Additional information and photos: www.dequart.com IG - FB @dequ.art
