Composition Measuring a generous 440 x 360 cm, this rug stands out for its visual composition of great finesse: The Central Medallion: A delicate floral center surrounded by an azure-blue rosette and acanthus scrolls, evoking the splendor of 18th-century palaces. The Field: A luminous cream background, adorned with dense panels of scattered flowers (roses and wildflowers), framed by architectural borders. The Border: A sophisticated frame alternating between black-background cartouches, garlands of flowers ribboned in pink, and azure medallions, creating a striking contrast and unique depth. Technical Specifications Origin: Manufacture de la Savonnerie (France). Period: Circa 1950. Dimensions: 440 x 360 cm. Materials: High-quality wool, offering a dense, silky pile and exceptional durability. Condition: Excellent condition, having retained all the vibrancy of its original colors. Why choose this piece? More than just a rug, this Savonnerie masterpiece is a heritage investment. Its design, inspired by the Louis-Ferdinand or Louis XVI styles reimagined with the clarity of the 1950s, brings instant brightness and elegance to a large living room or formal dining room.
